HEARING FROM THE EXPERTS
TOPIC #1: ENSURING EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICES AROUND SDH DATA COLLECTION AND USE • 9:20 AM - 10:20 AM
Organizations realize the importance of collecting SDH data, but struggle to know how to collect and use the data in a meaningful way. Statistics Canada will explain their role in the collection of SDH data, what sources of SDH data exist and how to access them. You will learn how to collect SDH data in a trauma-informed and evidence-based way, and best practices in using data to inform health equity planning. In addition, the Association for Canadian Studies will present the Canadian Index for Measuring Integration and Inclusion tool that evaluates immigrant outcomes through self-perceived quality of life and access to healthcare.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Jennifer Ali, Chief Population Health Frameworks, Statistics Canada Anita Brobbey and Larine Sluggett, Analysts, Statistics Canada Paul Holley, Research Director, Metropolis Institute Q&A
BREAK • 10:20 AM - 10:35 AM
TOPIC #2: HEALTH LITERACY AND PROMOTION FOR DIVERSE POPULATIONS IN THE AGE OF TECHNOLOGY • 10:35 AM - 11:35 AM
In 2022, the World Health Organization warned of the “infodemic” making it difficult for people to find trustworthy and reliable information. The misinformation has been shown to have direct impact on health status and even life. Jude Mary Cénat, Associate Professor in the School of Psychology and the Director of the Vulnerability, Trauma, Resilience & Culture Research Laboratory at the University of Ottawa, will provide an overview of how people access health information in the age of technology. You will learn about the routes of misinformation and the loss of trust in healthcare providers, and how technology can be leveraged in a positive way to promote health literacy.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Jude Mary Cénat, Associate Professor, University of Ottawa Jack Jedwab, President and CEO, Association for Canadian Studies and the Metropolis Institute Q&A

TOPIC #3: MENTAL HEALTH: CANADIAN BEST PRACTICE STANDARDS •
11:35 AM - 12:35 PM

Canada’s mental health and substance use system faces a crisis due to chronic underfunding, fragmented services, pervasive stigma, limited access to care, workforce shortages, and disparities in service provision. These limitations can be at least partially mitigated by reformed, improved and standardized services. Nitika Rewari, Director of Prevention and Promotion Initiatives at The Mental Health Commission of Canada will provide an overview of the National Mental Health and Substance Use Health (MHSUS) Collaborative 2024 Roadmap for national mental health standards in Canada. You will learn about the current and future states of mental health services and the Calls to Action.

- Nitika Chunilall, Director, Prevention and Promotion Initiatives, Mental Health Commission of Canada
